BANK CASES TO BE HANDLED IN BURLEIGH CO.

Supreme Court Directs All Matters Transferred to District Court Here

JUDGE COOLEY NAMED

Grand Forks Jurist Will Act Especially in the Many Cases Involved

Affairs of closed banks in North Dakota will be settled in the Burleigh county district court, with District Judge Charles M. Cooley of Grand Forks presiding, under an order of the supreme court promulgated today.

In making the order, the supreme court did not appoint a supreme court commissioner to hear evidence and report to it in the exercise of original jurisdiction in closing up the affairs of closed banks, as provided in an act of the 1923 legislature, but acted under another portion of the same legislative enactment placing the matter in the district court of Burleigh county.

The original application of Attorney-General George F. Shafer against all of the closed banks of the state, to have them declared insolvent and wind up their affairs, was ordered transmitted to the clerk of court of Burleigh county, and District Judge Cooley was directed to give precedence to the bank cases over all other matters, as provided in the legislative enactment.

Order of Court

The supreme court's minute order follows:

"Whereas, a complaint and original application for the exercise of original jurisdiction by this court has been filed by the Attorney-General pursuant to chapter 23, laws of 1923, and

Whereas, this court after full consideration of the same is of the opinion that the application should be disposed of under Section 48 of the Act by transmitting the papers and files therein to the clerk of the District Court of Burleigh county, and in the exercise of its supervisory jurisdiction designated a District Judge to act, now, therefore, it is

"Ordered, that the original application of the Attorney-General and all papers and files therein shall be transmitted to the clerk of the District Court of Burleigh county, and that court shall be and is vested with full jurisdiction to hear and try all controversies concerning the administration of insolvent banks, pursuant to chapter 23, laws of 1923, and the court hereby designates the Hon. Charles M. Cooley, presiding judge of the First Judicial District, as the District Judge to hear and try the same. Such District Judge is directed to give precedence to such controversies over all other work and in the disposition thereof shall be governed by the provisions of Chapter 23, Laws of 1923."

What Law Says

The law referred to provided that "in case the supreme court shall be of the opinion that its original jurisdiction does not extend to the controversy or controversies referred to in this act, or if for any other reason the supreme court shall refrain from exercising its original jurisdiction with respect thereto, the proceedings shall not be dismissed, but all papers and files therein shall be transmitted to the clerk of the district court of Burleigh county, and that court shall be and is thereupon vested with full jurisdiction of such proceedings, and thereupon the supreme court, in the exercise of its supervisory jurisdiction shall designate some district judge to hear and try said controversy or controversies, and the judge so designated shall give precedence to such controversy or controversies over all other work and in the disposition thereof shall be governed by the provisions of this act and endeavor in every way to carry the same in effect."

Judge Cooley, it is understood, was named especially because all of the time of Judges Coffey and Jansoni is occupied in the district.

TO ALTERNATE CONCRETE AND GRAVEL ROADS

New Plan to be Tried Out on Highway to be Built on Mandan Side of River

Alternate concrete, gravel and concrete sections will comprise the federal-state road to be built in Morton county from the end of the dyke east of Mandan through the Northern Pacific underpass on which work has been started, according to W. G. Black, state engineer. This will be the first time such construction has been used in North Dakota, although it has been tried out in the east.

Instead of one solid concrete road 18 feet wide, there will be two concrete roads of nine foot width each and a six foot gravel road between the two.

The Northern Pacific railroad has begun work on the underpass on the Bismarck-Mandan road on the Morton county side. The first step is to raise railroad tracks, it being necessary to raise the main line and north branch tracks about 11 feet. The Northern Pacific will supervise work, the cost being shared equally by the railroad and federal government. The estimated cost is about $70,000.

The Northern Pacific built an underpass on the Bismarck-Mandan road on the Burleigh county side, and the completion of the underpass on the Morton county side will eliminate railroad grade crossings between Bismarck and Mandan, and give a paved road for a large part of the distance of about six miles. Two persons lost their lives last year on the grade crossing on the Morton county side of the Missouri river.

R. E. Grant, who built the Northern Pacific depot in Glendive, arrived in Mandan yesterday and has the contract for the concrete work on the underpass.

R. A. McManery of the firm of McManery and Baumgartner, St. Paul, has the general track-raising contract, the track to be raised between 11 and 12 feet.

"The grade is being widened about 15 feet, and the contractors are preparing to raise the track gradually filling in under it."

NEOSHO PLAN TO BE TOLD BUSINESS MEN

Gurney Lowe Coming to Bismarck Next Monday Evening to Address Merchants

STARTED IN MISSOURI

Plan Developed Rapidly After Success Was Proved in Missouri Towns

The Neosho or Golden Rule plan which has transformed the business situation in many towns will be explained in Bismarck next Monday evening.

Gurney E. Lowe, author of the plan, sponsored by the Northern Pacific and Soo railroads, will speak before a dinner of business men of the city to be held Monday, July 30, at the Grand Pacific hotel under the auspices of the Association of Commerce. Every business man is urged to be present. A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce, said today.

F. J. Elliott, traveling immigration agent of the Northern Pacific railway, was in Bismarck today making preliminary arrangements for Mr. Lowe's meeting. He said that the railroads are sponsoring the plan because it has worked wonders for many cities, and the railroads desire to aid the business men along their lines. Neosho plan clubs have been organized in Jamestown and Cooperstown on the present tour of North Dakota, he said.

This movement, which, its advocates adhere to, has brought towns and cities together, has been to merchandising, has been to aid the business men along their lines. Neosho plan clubs have been organized in Jamestown and Cooperstown on the present tour of North Dakota, he said.

After the board of directors of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World got behind the Neosho plan, which was the enthusiastic recommendation of the American Railway Publishing company of St. Paul and until recently was vice president for the Eighth district of the Associated Advertising Clubs, began an investigation of his own, to convince himself whether the plan was adaptable in the Northwest.

Mr. Crawford sent out dozens of letters to boosting organizations in towns where the Neosho plan had taken hold. He informed them that two of the railroads, the civic associations and the advertising clubs of the Twin Cities were considering the advisability of getting Gurney E. Lowe, originator of the plan, to come to the Northwest to organize Neosho clubs.

Of each official he addressed he asked when the club was organized, number of members, number of sales held, effect these sales had on business prior to and following sales day; whether, in the opinion of the one members, the club has made its members better merchandisers; whether farmers feel more friendly to the town. He requested also any other information that could be given.

Originated in Missouri

Neosho, Mo., where the plan had its origin in the mind of Mr. Lowe, was stagnating a little more than a dozen years ago. "No one knew it better than Mr. Lowe, for he was advertising manager for a nursery company and was in touch with both the farming community about Neosho and the town of Neosho, Missouri. He knew also that the relations between the Neosho merchants and the farm people were not what they should be. He went among the farmers on business trips and received the views of the people. As he was a wide-awake business man he was acquainted with the problems and needs of town merchandising. The whole community—farmers and town—must pull together to foster prosperity, and so how this could be done was a revealing thought in the mind of Mr. Lowe. The Golden Rule plan took form. Mr. Lowe's business associates discussed it with him, and the first club which was to develop on the lines which Mr. Lowe proposed had its inception. That was in 1910.

The plan in general is to have special co-operative sales days, and it is said to include features unlike any other special sales plan ever placed before the merchants.

The carriage which caused the injuries was the second in the procession, coming next to the Duke's and carried the high sheriff of Lancashire and the Earl of Derby. The horses became frightened by the loud cheering.

CARRY CITY'S BOND MATTER TO THE COURT

Judge Jansoni Is Asked To Interpret Questions in Water Works Bonds

A friendly law suit was taken before District Judge Fred Jansoni who is holding court at Washburn, late this afternoon, to determine the validity of the $235,000 water works bond issue voted by citizens.

The action was taken upon request of Wood and Oakley, Chicago bond attorneys, to whom the papers in the water works proceedings were submitted after the sale of bonds to a group of Twin City financial houses.

The questions put before the court are:

1. The question submitted to the voters asked them to vote yes or no on whether bonds should be issued "to build or purchase" a water works system. Was this a double question and illegal?
2. Does the law require a majority of all voters in the city approve a bond issue or just a majority of the votes cast?
3. It was provided that one-twentieth of the bonds would mature each year. This would require maturity of a $250 bond each year. The bond owners do not like to handle bonds of this amount. Would it be legal to mature a slightly different amount each year to meet this objection?

The issue of warrants in connection with the water works system is not in question, and since the warrant issue was approximately $445,000 and the bond issue but $235,000 city officials do not anticipate financial trouble as a result of the delay incurred by the law suit.

The suit, entitled R. P. Logan, Fred Peterson, C. Bertsch and others against the city of Bismarck. The plaintiffs were petitioners before the railroad commission for a review of the water rates and are friendly to the city's procedure in the water works acquisition and extension.

According to city officials the only difficulty which might arise from the situation would be a slight delay in taking over the plant. The city, however, has until September 9 to do this.

City officials said that the bond attorneys held that the city's position, was right, but since court decisions were lacking in North Dakota believed there ought to be a court decision. The procedure was followed a year or so ago when the state made its first sale of rail warrants and is said to be a common procedure to place bond issues above questions and make them more easily saleable. An immediate decision by Judge Jansoni is hoped for.

U. S. GUNBOAT RETURNS FIRE

Answers Attack Made by Chinese Rebels, Report

I-Chang, Hupch, Province of China, July 24.—Steamers arriving at I-Chang on the Yangtze river report that the American steamer Alice Dolter and a British vessel under escort of the American gunboat Monagony were heavily fired upon near Chung King. The Monagony, according to the report, returned the fire, doing considerable damage.

The city commission sat as a board of education tonight and heard some complaints of property assessments.

Before meeting as a board of equalization it heard complaints regarding the grade on cross streets in the vicinity of east Broadway and Thayer and 13th, 14th and 15th street which, protesters said, caused water to stand in low places on sidewalks and streets. Lowering the grade was advocated as one method of remedying the situation and building of a storm sewer also was considered.

ASK RECALL OF LEONARD WOOD FROM MANILLA

Entire Legislature Unanimously Demands Removal of Governor-General

FOLLOWS STRIFE

Originated Over Reinstatement of Head of Secret Service, Accused as Briber

Manilla, P. I., July 24.—President Harding's response to a formal demand by the legislature here last night that Governor-General Leonard Wood be recalled here at once is anticipated as the next important development in the political strife which resulted last week strife in the resignation of the entire personnel of the Philippine cabinet and council of state.

The recall demand was contained in a resolution adopted without a dissenting vote at a meeting of both houses of the legislature. All of the parties took part in the vote, which endorsed the stand taken by the cabinet when its members quit in a body.

Governor Wood now is in the province of Samar on an inspection of health conditions there.

Smouldering hostilities between Filipino officials and Governor-General Wood were kindled by the Governor's reinstatement of Ray Conolly, American head of the Philippine secret service, after the latter had been officially absolved of charges of bribery. This led to the resignation of Jose Laurel, secretary of the interior, who had accused Conolly.

Then followed numerous sessions of heads of the political parties and finally on July 17 members of the cabinet and council of state, headed by Manuel Quezon, president of the senate and principal foe of the Wood administration, went in a group to the Governor-General's office and presented their formal resignations. They were accepted.

STAR ROUTE TO BE PROVIDED TO FT. YATES

Important Improvement in Mail Service Is Assured, Is Word to the A. of C.

The star route to provide better mail service between Bismarck and Cannonball and Fort Yates will be established.

This is the message received by A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce today from W. Irving Glover, third assistant postmaster-general.

Mr. Glover said that the fourth assistant postmaster-general, in charge of rural free delivery routes was taking up details with the postmasters along the line with a view of establishing the star route between Cannonball and Fort Yates and that when certain information is obtained the route will be provided.

The campaign to improve the mail service between Bismarck and Fort Yates began after the recent state postmasters' convention, which Mr. Glover attended. The Association of Commerce gathered petitions and presented their arguments. The star route would permit mail from Bismarck to reach Fort Yates the day it is mailed, whereas it requires two or three days now to reach Fort Yates by a roundabout route.

RUST SEARCH NATION WIDE AS U. S. JOINS

Department of Justice Will Send Circulars Throughout the Nation

KILLED S. D. SHERIFF

Minneapolis, July 24.—Search for Edwin Rust of East Grand Forks, Minn., who shot and killed Sheriff I. K. Fulkler of Aberdeen, S. D., developed in a nationwide man hunt today when W. J. Burns, director of the Department of Justice, issued orders to all agents to join in the search and planned to distribute 12,000 circulars bearing Rust's picture.

Rust is sought on a federal warrant charging violation of the national motor vehicle act, as well as for the murder of Sheriff Fulkler who was killed on a train while taking Rust from Grand Forks, N. D., to Aberdeen. Rust escaped after the shooting.

The federal charge, according to department of justice officials, resulted from theft of an automobile in California.

The "circulars" warn officials to "take no chances with this man."

They also announced that Brown county, South Dakota, of which Fulkler was sheriff, will pay $500 reward for Rust, dead or alive.

POSSE HUNTS FOR SLAYER

Fulkler, of Brown county, South Dakota, following receipt of information from Albert Lea to be on the lookout for him.

John W. Arlo, the sheriff's brother, who is a special agent for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, is watching the railroad yards. Word that the man believed to be Rust was in this vicinity was received about 9 o'clock last night. No clue, however, as to the slayer's whereabouts was found up to midnight.

NO ANTHRACITE STRIKE SEEN

John Hays Hammond Believes That Men Will Work This Fall

Boston, July 24.—John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States Coal Commission, and Thomas H. Marshall, former vice-president of the commission, are agreed that there will be no strike in the anthracite fields this fall; that the coal commission will not urge President Harding to call an extra session of congress in connection with the fuel situation; and that the price of coal to New England consumers will not be higher than during the last two years, according to a copyrighted article appearing today in the Boston Herald. Mr. Hammond and Mr. Marshall are in Gloucester for the summer.

For the commission to call an extra session of congress now to deal with the fuel situation would be uncalled for and an unwarranted presumption, Mr. Hammond was quoted as asserting.

Retains Constantinople, Puts Her in League of Nations on Equal Terms

Great Population Movement Provided as Greeks Are to Leave Turkey; Turks Greece

Lausanne, July 24.—The Lausanne peace treaty formally establishing peace between the European powers and Turkey, was signed today.

By the treaty of Lausanne Turkey regains Eastern Thrace and becomes the bridge between the East and the West. She joins the League of Nations on a footing of equality.

Constantinople goes indefinitely to Turkey.

All foreign ships will be withdrawn.

The treaty makes peace between Greece and Turkey.

It permits the patriarch of the Greek orthodox church to remain in Constantinople.

It launches one of the most stupendous human movements in history by its compulsory exchange of population, the Greeks in Turkey to return to Greece and the Turks in Greece to return to Turkey.

It fails to solve the Armenian problem, Armenians being obliged to find a new haven.

It reduces Turkey's size by recognition of detached mandated states like Syria, Mesopotamia and Palestine.

It risks Turkey of judicial capitulation, as China vainly sought to accomplish at Washington and which Japan achieved only after two decades of struggle.

In only one way Turkey treated differently than other countries; foreign legal advisers will be empowered to receive complaints relating to arrests and imprisonment of foreigners.

Turkey, which has been at war for 12 consecutive years, although vanquished in the World War as an ally of Germany, came to the council table at Lausanne as a victorious nation. Turkey's reconstructed army under Ismail Pasha had completely routed Greek forces.

HOPE WATER WILL CLEAR UP IN FEW DAYS

By Health Officer Because of Condition

"BIG MUDDY" MUDDIER

Unusual turbidity in the city water was somewhat lessened today, giving hope to officials of the water company that it would be greatly improved in the next few days. The water began to clear up in the western part of the city Saturday afternoon, they say.

The injunction of the city health officer to continue boiling water before using is continued indefinitely, however. The presence of volcanic matter in the water makes this necessary, according to the city chemist.

The "Big Muddy" has carried an unusual amount of mud this year, according to water company officials. After the spring rise came the June rise, and the water rose high. This and the water raised by heavy rains at various points in North Dakota and Montana, which caused the river to overflow in low places and considerable volcanic matter washed into the river. The filling of conches also is believed to be the cause of the excessive number of mosquitoes in towns along the river.

According to city chemist E. M. Stanton the capacity of the third reservoir, from which water enters the mains, was lessened because the reservoir was not cleaned. The chemical treatment requires time for settling in the water and this is not given under present conditions, he said. The reservoir has not been cleaned since last year, he said.

Officials of the company changed the time of pumping water, so that all pumping now is done at night. The water passes through three reservoirs of 2,000,000 capacity, and the daily consumption is said to be 700,000 to 800,000 gallons. It is 48 hours from the time water is pumped into a reservoir until it flows in the mains, it is said.

Belief is expressed by company officials that within a day the turbidity will be remarkably lessened except where water has not been taken out of pipes leading to the consumer's faucet for a few days, and allowing the water to run would clear it up. They say the water appears entirely clear in the third reservoir.

It has been understood that because of the imminence of the city's taking over of the water plant, which was expected by this time, that the company would not clean the reservoirs.

American Corn and Tractors Saving Russia From Famine

INDIAN corn, the maize upon which the early settlers in New England subsisted in the early days of our country, is playing a large part in the reclamation of Russia. Several million acres of Russian soil will probably bear crops next year produced out of American pure seed corn from the Middle Western States, and cultivated by American tractors.

Dr. Joseph A. Rosen, the well-known American agriculturist already famous for his "Rosen" wheat to Russia two years ago to represent the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (with the American Relief Administration). One of the best means found for fighting famine in the Volga region was his plan whereby 2,700,000 acres were planted with American corn which, besides needing less seed, can better endure the rainless months of this dry region than the customary crops of wheat and other small grains. It also is a crop that can be cultivated and therefore, in a fast naturally rich, save 50 percent through the possibility of destroying the weeds.

As part of the American Jewish program of reconstruction in the Ukraine this year, Dr. Rosen has selected the best species of American corn and introduced them for seed there. Over 6,000 bushels of pure bred seed corn from Iowa, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Kansas, and Minnesota have been planted in 42 localities and next year will serve as seed for millions of acres of Ukrainian soil.

About 200,000 acres will be worked this fall by American tractors sent over by the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee under the direction of American farm experts. The Russian government hopes during the next five years to import and build at least 50,000 tractors. It is believed that Dr. Rosen has made a contribution only to emergency aid but also to the permanent reconstruction of Russian agriculture.

Before Order Is Restored in Leipzig

London, July 24.—Reuters' Berlin correspondent confirms reports of communist disturbances in Frankfurt. He says it was the public prosecutor, Dr. Haas, who was knocked down in the street and killed today and that the wife and father of the latter were maltreated.

Dr. Haas' wife and father were injured while the prosecutor's residence was being ransacked and Dr. Haas was so severely handled that he eventually succumbed.

The police restored order. In view of the serious situation Governor Nothe of Hanover province, northwestern Germany, has prohibited all open air meetings; next Sunday, the correspondent states. This date is the one originally fixed by the Communists for anti-Fascist demonstrations.

23 CONVICTS RECAPTURED

One Is Killed in Escape From Illinois Prison

Chester, Ill., July 24.—Twenty-three of the 41 prisoners who escaped from the Illinois state hospital for the criminal insane here Sunday night, have been recaptured, 17 still being at large today. Joe Jackson, Chicago negro, serving a life term for murder, was stabbed to death in the struggle at the asylum by one of the guards.

Poses consisting of guards of the Southern Illinois penitentiary nearby, deputy sheriffs and local authorities continued their search for the convicts who are believed to be hiding in the vicinity. An investigation into the delivery was in progress by state officials.

HALF MILLION 'QUAKE LOSS

Inventory Taken of Damage in Southern California

San Bernardino, July 24.—Inventory of the damage of Sunday night's earthquake, completed last night, showed that three persons were injured and about $2,000 damage in the city of San Bernardino, $2,500 in Redlands and extensive damage to the southern California state hospital for the insane at Pilton and the general hospital's east and west wings were shattered to such an extent that 519 patients were ordered removed. Replacement value of the wings declared unfit for occupancy was estimated at $500,000. At the General hospital damage consisted of demolished plaster on each of the three floors, cracked tiling and damage to ornamental work.

Damage to San Bernardino consisted largely of cracked walls in various school buildings, court house and business blocks. The Hall of Records, which lost an immense chimney, was the building most damaged.

Interior walls of the court house, the tallest building here, were cracked through in a half dozen places. Some of these walls were two feet thick.

At the Hall of Records adjoining the court house, barriers were erected today to keep onlookers at a distance.

After an inspection of the junior high school, a three story structure erected in 1892, officials of the board of education announced that the third floor probably would have to be removed. City officials announced only one business structure, an old two-story building, would be condemned.

Persons who were camping in both the San Bernardino and San Jacinto mountains told of a roar which preceded the earthquake. Rocks rolled from canyon sides.

Marked increase in the flow of streams near here has occurred since the earthquake.

COURT TERM OPENS LATER
Because the supreme court of North Dakota will adjourn about a month later than usual in the summer the September term of the court will open one week later, or on September 11, it was announced by Clerk J. H. Newton. Confronted by a calendar of many exceptionally important cases members of the court have been working overtime to get all important matters cleared up before the summer recess, and it is expected that most of the court's business will be disposed of within a week to ten days.

Serbian Given Military Rites

Beach, N. D., July 24.—George Drakulich, young Serbian, who was permitted to return to his native land to fight with his own nationals when called in the first draft in the United States, and who following the war returned to this country, was given a military funeral here by the American Legion with which he had affiliated, although he could not hold membership. Drakulich was killed when, unfamiliar with a double bit on the bridle of the horse he was given to ride at the A. L. Martin ranch, he pulled sharply on the reins causing the animal to rear and fall over backwards, crushing him beneath the pommel of the saddle. He lived but a few minutes.

The body was sent to Ottumwa, Iowa, for burial. A mother and sister of Ottumwa, and a brother of Sioux City, Iowa, survive.

MILTON BANK TO RECOVER

John Valleby, receiver of the State Bank of Milton, may enforce collection of notes against Thomas Davaney, Adelard Benoit and others, under a decision of the supreme court, reversing the district court of Cavalier county. The notes amounted to $10,133.84.

The notes were given to the bank as a result of cattle deals and at the request of the president to enable it to carry indebtedness in a form sufficient to the bank examiner, and defendants denied liability, according to the record in the case.

DAKOTA YOUTH KILLS SELF AT MINNETONKA

Minneapolis, July 24.—Despondency following a nervous breakdown is believed to have prompted the suicide of Archie Unker, 21, who was found dead by his mother, Mrs. M. Unker, in their cottage at Fargo.

Point, Lake Minnesota. Unker and his mother came to Minneapolis recently from North Dakota.

Standard Oil Service

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is doing much to solve a problem of intense and vital interest to you.

With its mammoth central refineries and its far-reaching distributing system—operating with machine-like precision—it is exerting a direct influence on the labor problems of the farmer.

That the farmer is coming to a realization of the benefits of motorizing his equipment is shown by the fact that one tractor manufacturer reports the sale of 20,000 of his machines during the first three months of 1923 as compared with 8,000 of the same machines sold during the same period in 1922.

This increase in the use of mechanical power in general farm practice means a distinct saving in time, and, eventually, will mean greater crops and greater general prosperity.

While the efficient harnessing of petroleum with farming, and the production of food, is an achievement of signal importance, it is but one instance of how Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service dovetails with every other business.

It dovetails with industry by furnishing specialized lubricants for special machinery.

It promotes health by taking from petroleum those ingredients which are used medicinally. It makes it possible for the doctor to cover a much greater territory in pursuing his practice.

It dovetails with the railroads through lubricating much of their intricate equipment, and makes night travel safe by reason of a dependable signal system.

It meets the housewife by furnishing her a wax which safeguards her preserves, jellies, and condiments against spoilage.

It reaches directly or indirectly, every man in the Middle West at some point which is essential to his prosperity or happiness with a service which is occupying the entire time and attention of 27,000 loyal, efficient, hard-working men and women.

How Business Depression Tests Good-Will

Many a manufacturer during the past two years has had an opportunity to measure as never before the real worth of his advertising investment.

He has seen his trade-marked line keep up in sales and his unadvertised goods shrink to a small fraction of their former volume. Innumerable instances could be cited.

Dealers can tell a similar story. The number of makes carried of each item have shrunk to a very few—the best known and most frequently called for. Dealers have changed their point of view; they no longer stock lightly with many brands, but substantially with a few.

Quick turnover is their only salvation in a depression and their real source of profit in a prosperous period.

WILL GREEN TO VISIT LOCAL KIWANIS CLUB

Lieutenant-Governor to be Honor Guest of Local Club. Probably Next Week

WATER PLAN EXPLAINED

Will Green of Fargo, Lieutenant-governor of the Kiwanis clubs for North Dakota, is expected in Bismarck, probably next Monday, on his first official visit to the Bismarck Kiwanis club. A royal welcome is planned for Mr. Green.

The Kiwanians, at their weekly luncheon Monday, made plans for the next month's program. Attorney-General George F. Shafer was named to arrange for the July 30 program, and R. B. Murphy, Dr. C. O. Robinson, W. H. Webb and Father Slag for successive weekly luncheon programs.

Kiwanian F. A. Knowles made a gift to the club which is to sound the death knell of long-winded speakers. In the future the club chairman will not have to pull at the coat-tail of a speaker who exceeds the time allotted for the rapid-fire program which the Kiwanians have. Mr. Knowles presented the club with a clock having it a gone bearing the Kiwanian emblem, and in the future when the chairman wants a speaker to sit down he'll simply strike the gong.

Dr. Joseph Ryerson accepted the gift with appropriate remarks. Delegates to the next district convention of the Kiwanis clubs, to be held in Watertown, S. D., were chosen as follows: Judge L. E. Birdzell, Scott Cameron, Jack Parkinson, alternates, Geo. F. Shafer, H. Sorenson, John A. Graham.

Speaker Boise was called upon to explain how he got back from a trip to Yellowstone park and the Black Hills with a $30 bill in his pocket, and he related the story of his trip with special emphasis upon the enormous fish that he caught in the mountain streams.

City Engineer T. R. Atkinson, guest of the club, explained the plan for the new city water works. He spoke of the history of the water plant and the city's effort to acquire it, and promised pure, wholesome water in the future. He explained that citizens should not be impatient if rates weren't materially cut immediately after the city took over the plant.

A revolution could not be worked overnight, and he also said that while the best possible fire protection will be afforded there probably will be no change in insurance rates until the city has a full paid fire department.

HOPI INDIAN WORK TRACED BACK TO 1620

Flagstaff, Ariz., July 24.—Scientists have determined that the Hopi Indian buildings of many of the villages of the tribe northeast of Flagstaff date back to about 1620 when the Hopis revolted against the Spanish priests and tore down missions built by the Spaniards, using many timbers from the missions in constructing their own houses.

A party including Dr. A. E. Douglas of the University of Arizona and Dr. J. A. Jeancon of the Colorado state museum returned recently from the Hopi pueblo villages where they made a study of the wooden beams in the ancient structures.

Professor Douglas has specialized in the study of rings in Arizona trees with the result that he has been able to determine the age of timbers.

The scientists' principal difficulty lay in securing the permission of the Indians to make borings in the beams which are held sacred by the Hopis.

When this permission was finally obtained a number of one-inch borings were made and the examination indicated that the beams had been cut about the year 1620 when tradition says the Spanish built their missions in northeastern Arizona. Some 60 years later came the Hopi revolt and the missions were torn down.

Many of the beams in the Indian dwellings are decorated with rich carvings which Dr. Douglas says is the work of the Spaniards.

SHIP COMPLETES MAIDEN VOYAGE UNDER U. S. FLAG

New York, July 24.—The Leviathan, yesterday completed her maiden voyage under the American flag. More than 7,500 persons were at the Hudson river pier when the giant "sea palace" docked.

The running time from Southampton to New York was five days, 12 hours, and 11 minutes with an average speed of 23.09 knots an hour.

Ten stowaways slipped aboard the ship at Cherbourg and Southampton. They were turned over to Ellis Island authorities.

Launch New Town of Loutt

Loutt, N. D., July 24.—"Loutt," brand new North Dakota town on the Soo railroad in Logan county about half way between Fredonia and Lehr, will be formally launched today with a grand opening auction sale of about 300 business and residence lots.

A few days ago the first stake for the town was driven by Katie Loutt, daughter of Mrs. George Loutt, resident of the county for more than 30 years. The second stake was driven by Mrs. George Loutt, widow of George Loutt who died a short time

NEW YORK YAWNS OVER SUCH THINGS AS THIS

This is what was left of one of the wooden cars of an elevated train that crashed into a street subway train on the trestle at Jerome avenue and 265th street. New York has its little rapid transit accident every so often now and only yawns when it was learned that the injured numbered only seven.

LAUGH THAT OFF, IF YOU CAN!

Man Prohibited From Driving Car In N. D. Two Years

Fargo, July 24.—George W. Shellan of Crookston, Minn., cannot drive a car in North Dakota for two years.

Shellan appeared at his hearing, drove a car down the streets of Fargo the other day while under the influence of liquor. When Shellan came before Judge J. E. Bingham, he was found guilty and the judge gave him $50 fine and a 30-day county jail sentence. Because 30 days in jail would materially cripple Shellan, his business, the court suspended the jail sentence, but imposed the "no driving" penalty.

If Shellan is caught driving a car anywhere in the state during the next two years he automatically sentences himself to 30 days in the Cass county jail.

BRADY CASE IS REVERSED

The supreme court has reversed a jury verdict in the Burlington county district court in which Mary Brady was given judgment of $4,583.12, including interest, from the estate of Johanna Brady, for services rendered Johanna Brady, her mother, in the conduct of a rooming house and earning for her during a period of illness.

Justice Johnson, writing the opinion, said that "it is held that there is not sufficient evidence in the record to support a verdict for the plaintiff and that the presumption of gratuitousness arising from the relationship of the parties is not negated by competent evidence so as to entitle plaintiff to recover on an implied contract."

The case was appealed by the administrator, who was at the time of trial J. D. McDonald; now deceased, through Newton, Dullam and Young attorneys. J. P. Wagner succeeded him as administrator.

IL FORMATIONS SOUGHT
Burnstad, N. D., July 24.—Prof. A. G. Leonard of the University of North Dakota, state geologist, is making a careful survey of this district for the admitted purpose of determining the oil probabilities. Dr. Leonard admitted finding many "interesting formations," but would make no statement as to his judgment on oil until the formal report is completed. Burnstad is widely excited.

DULUTH MAN IS RELEASED

Leavenworth, July 24.—Jacob Bental, 52, of Duluth, Minn., former socialist candidate for Governor of Minnesota in the year 1916 was released from the federal prison here today after serving a two year sentence for violation of the espionage act. He had been a model prisoner, according to the warden, and received his full time off for good behavior. He had been serving as editor of the prison newspaper.

Minneapolis, July 24.—Jacob O. Bental, who was released from the Leavenworth penitentiary today, having served a two-year sentence, was one of 27 persons held for violation of war-time laws who were released on order of President Harding, who granted pardons in some cases and commutation of sentences in others before departing on his trip to Alaska.

His Leavenworth sentence followed a sentence in the Crow Wing, Minn., county jail, following a conviction on a charge of inducing one of his farm employes not to register for the draft. After several anti-war sentences, Bental was indicted, tried and convicted on charges of violating the espionage act.

GOLD NONE TOO GOOD

A golden spike was driven into the Tanana Bridge, over the Tanana River, Alaska by President Harding. It marked the formal completion of the government railroad line from Seward to Fairbanks, a distance of 471 miles. The spike was presented by the citizens of Anchorage to Colonel Frederick Meers (inset), U. S. Engineer Corps, who had charge of the railroad's construction.

Every man realizes the necessity of paint as a protection for wood and metal surfaces.

Any man who has tramped the woods for partridge, or followed game tracks, has seen fallen trees rotting to destruction.

These trees, with their source of life gone and no scientific protection afforded, rot and are soon useless.

Lumber has the same rotting tendency.

Paint is a scientific contribution for the preservation of wood. The protection afforded, however, is determined by the value of the paint used.

Marswells is economical because it spreads over so much surface.

Marswells affords the greatest protection because of the smooth non-porous finish any man or woman can obtain.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Harvesting of North Dakota's 1923 crop is of concern to every person interested in the welfare of the state, and it behooves every person to lend any aid to the farmers that he can. Depressed price of grain makes it imperative for the farmer that the crop be harvested at a minimum of expense.

A good start was made in the obtaining of a special rate for harvest laborers coming into the state, and it is hoped that the railroads' promise to Governor Nestos will be followed by speedy approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Free employment offices have been established at several points in the state by the federal government's employment bureau and the state employment service. Business men and other city residents may aid in this work by directing labor through these channels.

The setting of rates for harvest labor, believed to be fair by the farmers and others in some localities who have cooperated with them ought to prevent one locality bidding against another in times when the demand may exceed the available supply of labor. Governor Nestos, who urged co-operation among business men and farmers in the various counties in this regard, also urges the co-operation of business men in the conduct of the employment service.

The extent of the harvest cannot be known until the grain is threshed. Western North Dakota in most localities, however, can boast of a better grain crop than the Red River Valley, if reports of experts reflect the true condition of the grain. Corn never was better, and potatoes give promise of large yields. Flax also is in excellent condition, and there will be no lack of forage to carry livestock through next winter.

X-RAY
An X-ray current of 250,000 volts, most powerful ever used, was "shot" into the cancer of a woman patient at Bellevue Hospital, New York City. Three weeks later the cancer is reduced in size three-quarters of an inch.

As a result, Dr. Lewis Friedman, a Bellevue radiologist, is able to make this scientific prediction, the most important medical news so far in 1923: "All tissue contains electrical energy. The X-ray burns out that energy. We believe that it will take the place of radium in cancer cases. There is no doubt that some form of X-ray will eventually be discovered that will produce an absolute cure."

PENALTY
France has another disappointment—prospects are that she will have a low wheat crop this year. French interests are said to be buying enough wheat in the world market to take care of their country's needs for several months. The law of compensation never sleeps. Swords into ploughshares and spears into pruning hooks, France!

MOVIES
Eighteen thousand movie theaters in the United States, with an attendance of 50 million ticket-buyers a week, according to a trade estimate. Which means, the average person goes to the movies about once every two weeks. Edison was right when he said: "Whoever controls the motion picture industry controls the most powerful medium of influence over the people."

CENSORS
New York censors eliminated certain parts of the movie, "Good Riddance." The producers "went to law," and the court of appeals overrides the censors. The film will go into circulation in New York state about as it was before the censors cut it.

In this particular film, the censors' objection was that some of the episodes portrayed cruelty to animals, which might incite others to cruelty. It seems to be all right to portray cruelty to children in the pictures which is a puzzling contradiction.

PRICES
Retail prices in Germany, as the mark continues going to pieces, rise a third in one week. Cost of living there now is over 11,000 times higher than it was when the war started in 1914.

The mark apparently was purposely inflated to throw sand in the eyes of indemnity collectors. The Germans dug a pit for their neighbors and fell in it themselves. The boomerang usually returns to its source, especially when hurled by an expert, with power.

STATISTICS
Something new under the sun—a business doctor who condemns his own brand of medicine. Slason Thompson, railroad statistician, says superfluous statistics are adding 100 million dollars a year to our nation's transportation bill. Possibly an exaggeration, but in principle he is right. And it's true of all industries, semi-demented concerning statistics which few read and fewer understand.

Since 1895, railroad clerks have increased 441 per cent, while passengers increased only 147 per cent and freight tonnage only 231 per cent. System is futile except when it eliminates work and cuts cost of production.

AUTOS
Four auto companies now have produced more than a million cars apiece since they started business. Willys-Overland is the latest. Buick and Chevrolet passed the million mark early this year. Dodge soon will be the fifth to reach the mark.

Ford hit the million mark goal several years ago. He's getting along to 8,000,000 cars produced.

These figures don't mean much unless you recall the old days when the "horseless carriage" struck most people as a fad at best, an innovation limited in its power of growth. It's dangerous to condemn anything new—or predict its future.

The top of a dress this year is about where the bottom of a dress was last year.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

The Twins and Mister Sky Bow hurried to the place the sounds of crying had come from.

And it only took them a second to discover who was doing it. It was the Little Pezzers.

Where a moment or two before they had all been so funny and so happy, now every last one of them was crying his head off nearly.

But they were so tiny it took about a bushel of them to cry loud enough to be heard at all and about two bushels of them to make a real noise.

"What can be the matter?" asked Nancy anxiously, dropping on her knees and speaking as softly as she knew how. "Is it that bad old Cross Patch? Has he been here frightening you?"

"Oh, yes, piped out a tiny Little Pezzers. 'That's just what the matter. Before he came along we were as happy as flies in a honey-pot, but after he waved his magic stick, we suddenly discovered that we hate to be little. It's awful to be little, so it is! We can't run fast, and we can't eat a lot, and we can't hear much, and we're just nothing at all!'

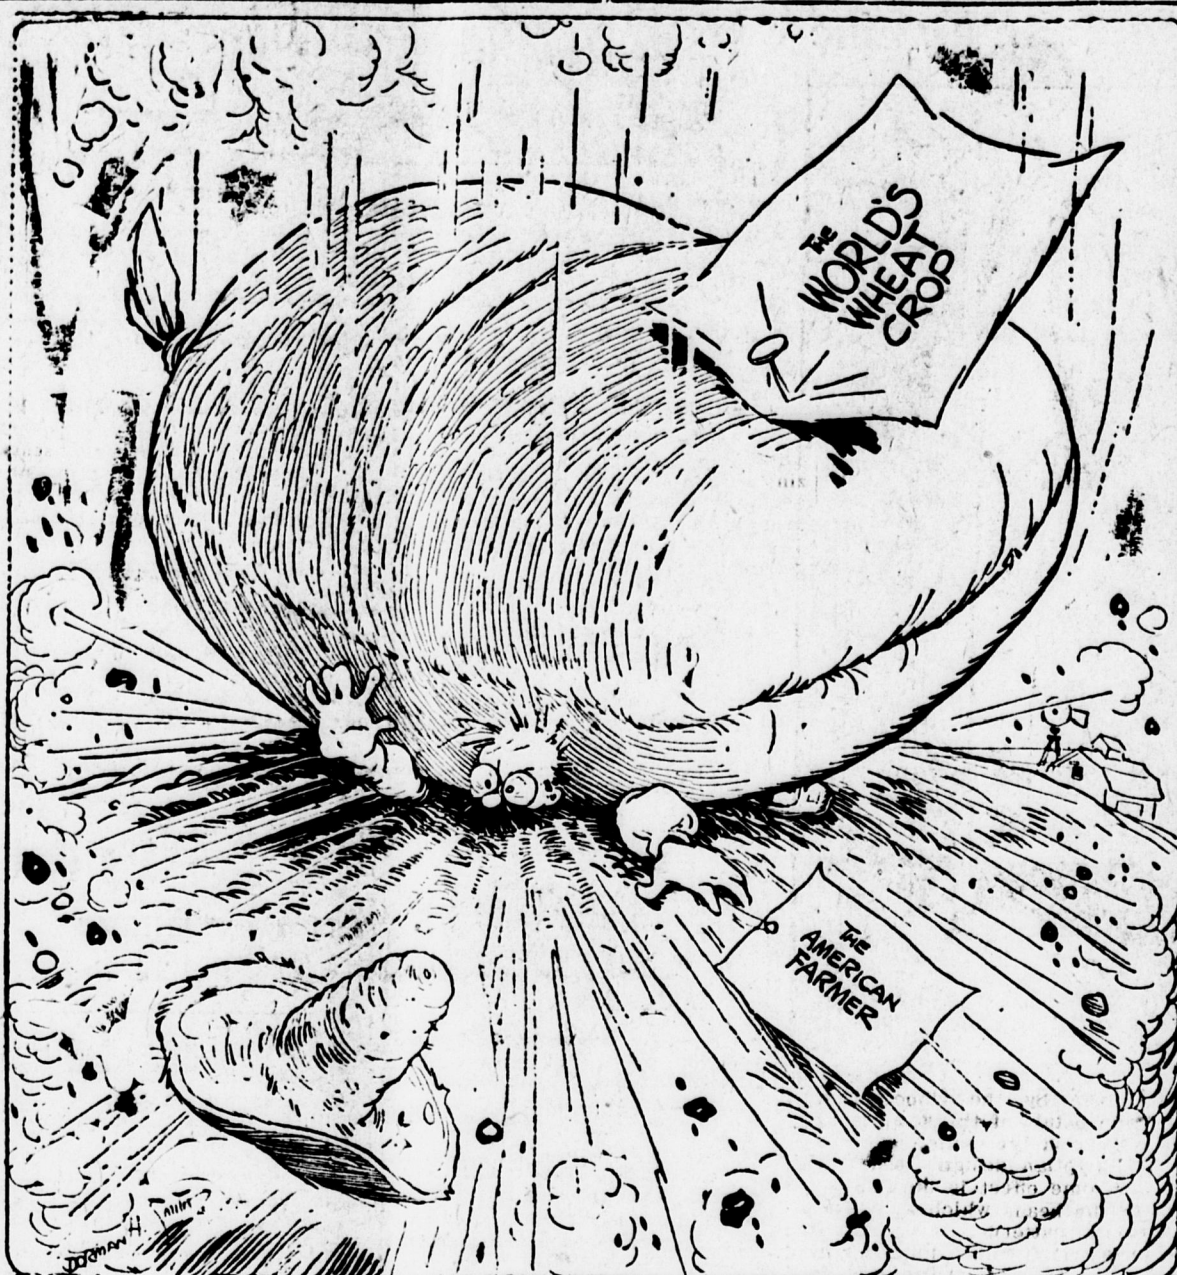

"But just think!" Nick reminded him. And all the other Little Pezzers stopped crying and listened hard. "It's fine to be little in lots of ways. When you're sick there's such a little bit of you to suffer! And when you fall down there's such a little bit of you to get hurt! And when you have to take a bath there's such a little bit of you to wash with soap! And when—"

"Oh, stop, stop!" cried all the Little Pezzers. "We're happy again. And if old Cross Patch comes back, we'll tell him to get out. Thank you, Twins, we're not afraid of anything now."

UNWARNED AND UNARMED

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON

TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Perhaps I'd better confess in the first place, dear old chap, that I am very much afraid—afraid of Leslie—afraid of myself—and most of all afraid of you.

You are such a fool Jack. You never know when you are well off and all the while I feel that you are sitting over a volcano and that some day this married life of yours will go all fluey. Did you ever stop to think that there is a divorce for every eight marriages? Don't add to your possibilities of being that unlucky number eight.

Of course I cannot understand how Leslie feels about you but knowing you as I do, I know I wouldn't live with you a minute. Will you tell me just why you want to break up the friendship between Ruth Ellington and Leslie?

I happen to have known Ruth very well before she was married and, as you say, she was the gayest and brightest girl in her set. I know that something very terrible must have happened in the first year of her marriage, for she has never been the same since.

I never did like Harry Ellington. He is the most selfish egotistical, arrogant man I have ever met, and that's going some.

What little I have seen of Ruth since her marriage has made me think she is a brave little thing who doesn't tell her troubles to every one, but I would like to tell Harry Ellington one thing. I believe I know Ruth well enough to prophesy that there are plenty of men who would be very glad to make love to her. There is always another man in the offing for a pretty neglected wife.

It always seems so strange to me that your husbands seem to feel their wives are immune. You know as well as I, Jack, that you feel perfectly free to compliment and flirt with the wives of any young men of your acquaintance if they will let you, also that down deep in your heart you think you have the prettiest girl in town as your wife.

Then why should not all the other fellows try to make love to her if you neglect her? I have seen that so many times and I am satisfied that in the case of Ruth Ellington, if she ever falls in love with another man, she will very quickly tell Mr. Harry where he gets off. She isn't a woman to be blindly in love or blindly devoted.

Perhaps you have noticed this and that is the reason you wanted to keep Leslie away from her. Don't kid yourself, Jack. Leslie also has a mind of her own and she will exercise it in the selection of her friends, both men and women.

Because I know that I would take Leslie's part against you, for I know her well enough to know she is neither prejudiced, nor jealous, I don't want to come over and get into any controversy. I know you would be just fool enough to commence one.

You put me in wrong with her with that letter. I crow hot all over whenever I think of it. She will always think there is something between you and me that she should not know. Of course there is a lot that she should not know about you if she wants to be happy and that's what makes me afraid of her, for I her. There is always another man in the offing for a pretty neglected wife.

It always seems so strange to me that your husbands seem to feel their wives are immune. You know as well as I, Jack, that you feel perfectly free to compliment and flirt with the wives of any young men of your acquaintance if they will let you, also that down deep in your heart you think you have the prettiest girl in town as your wife.

Then why should not all the other fellows try to make love to her if you neglect her? I have seen that so many times and I am satisfied that in the case of Ruth Ellington, if she ever falls in love with another man, she will very quickly tell Mr. Harry where he gets off. INDIANS ASK HUGE SUMS

Seek Millions in Return of Property

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 24.—Sioux Falls, the Pipestone, Minn., stone quarry and several additional "small items," are lumped together under the title of Indian territory in a suit to be brought against the federal government by the Yankton Sioux Indians, according to Washosay, or Alfred C. Smith of Wagner, representative of the tribe, who was in Sioux Falls Friday.

The suit involves several million dollars. It is declared to be the largest individual action of the kind that has ever been brought.

Washosay and several tribesmen were here to witness the signing of a contract with E. E. Wagner of Sioux City, former attorney of this city, who has been engaged as attorney for the tribe. The group was accompanied here by A. W. Leach, supervisor in charge of the Yankton Indian agency.

Attorney Wagner was formerly United States district attorney for South Dakota.

According to Washosay, there are two central claims involved and several minor claims, the earliest of which dates back to 1886.

First on the basis of having been the original dwellers in the Black Hills, the Yankton Sioux tribe was said by Washosay to be asking an indemnity for part ownership in that region.

Another large claim to indemnity is put forth on the basis of a treaty of 1862 in which the Yankton Sioux ceded this section of the state and also a large area in the north. Nothing has ever been received from these cessions, according to the present suit.

DON'T BLAME THE CHILD

Don't scold your children for lack of control over the kidney secretions. It is not always the children's fault—in many cases it means weak kidneys and can be readily righted. Read this Bismarck father's advice.

Wm. O. Baer, carpenter, 221 S. 6th St., says: "My little girl was troubled with kidney weakness and she had no control over the kidney secretions. She was nervous and peevish and was often restless at night. The complaint came on after she had recovered from infantile paralysis and it seemed to leave her kidneys weak and disordered. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good for kidney trouble and thought it well to try them on the child. After taking them she got over the trouble and her health picked up at once and she is now strong and healthy."

THE YELLOW SEVEN

BY EDMUND SNELL
LIVIN' UP TO THE NAME

This unusual series of stories deals with the exploits of "Chinese" Pennington, a detective sent by his government to British North Borneo to run to earth The Yellow Seven, a gang of Chinese bandits.

"CHINESE" PENNINGTON lay tapping the toes of his shoes together, gazing through the wreath of smoke that hung above him at a lizard that clung to the ceiling of the veranda of Captain John Hewitt—Commissioner of Police. A hand reached down and scratched at a section of white calf that showed between the lowest extremity of a carefully creased trouser-leg and the top of a crumpled sock. The strange diagonal slit, behind which his eyes had a knack of disappearing, widened presently, and he looked across at Monica.

"Hot, isn't it?"

"Almost too hot to think. I'm glad you've decided to sit up because I've lots of things I want to ask you."

"What sort of things, Mrs. Viney?"

"There are heaps of things I don't understand," she told him. "Why don't you arrest Mr. Chai-Hung?"

"You think we ought to?"

"Why, of course. You know him to be the leader of Chinese opinion on the island; you know him to be cunning, unscrupulous, capable of anything. . . . I can't see why Jack bothers himself to scour the countryside for Chai-Hung's puppets—when the wires are still at large."

The man with the Chinese eyes balanced a rubber pouch on his knees and began rolling a fresh cigarette. Monica watched him impatiently. She found it difficult to associate in her mind the two Penningtons—the youthful, immaculate jester who ornamented her brother's bungalow, leading an apparently purposeless existence, and the grunt, lean scarecrow who, a master of dialect and disguise—wandered undetected from drinking-house to opium den, from market-place to camp-fire, hounding out the spreaders of a sedition that disturbed the peace of the handful of white settlers that dwelt on these fringes of civilization.

"I'm afraid you have to blame me for that, Mrs. Viney," he said slowly. "You see, things aren't always as easy as they seem. Chai-Hung is still the most respected Chinaman in Borneo. I'm prepared to admit that there was a time when things looked black against him. It seemed incredible that he should be able to find a way out, but he did. Among a legion of worshippers follows him by no means difficult for him to discover a scape-goat."

"But the Yellow Seven," she persisted excitedly. "Nothing can explain away that."

"I know," he agreed. "In almost every outrage committed that yellow card with its seven black dots has been traced; but when it comes to prove, after all?—merely that the perpetrator belonged to a society or cult among which this symbol exercises a significance. It proves nothing against Chai-Hung."

"Of course not," she said. "You know—and so does your brother, but it's up to us to prove our case. It's up to me to catch Chai-Hung red-handed with the cards in his possession. Have you ever seen lalang, Mrs. Pennington? It's a weed that grows high on hill-tops and spreads its roots deeply-rooted, it spreads its roots and all—and burn it until there is nothing left that can take root again. The Yellow Seven is like lalang. I've got to make certain that Chai-Hung is the root—and the only root."

"I see," said Monica thoughtfully. "And until this happens?"

"Until then every planter who walks in lonely places—goes in peril of his life; every white man who employs a Chinese cool-boy should look closely into his credentials, when he engages him, and carefully into his cooking forever after!"

At that moment, Pennington, who had been looking through the doorway raised a warning finger. Monica turned to see the face of Chai-Hung staring from the foot of the veranda.

His head was under a red umbrella, and an undersized coolie—ill-favored and hump-backed—lurked in the background. The Oriental bent himself nearly double before the English girl.

A family reunion with forty sons and daughters and grand-children of Thomas M. Craven, pioneer resident of Burleigh county, is being held at the homes of V. M. Craven of Menoken and J. W. Rodgers of McKenzie.

This is one of the few old-fashioned family reunions in which brothers and sisters have met after separation of from twenty-five to forty years over held in this part of the state. For several weeks past the Craven children have been arriving, some coming by automobiles, some by train bringing their wives and children from many different states in the Union.

Eight of the eleven children of Thomas Craven attending the reunion are: Mrs. T. C. Craven, two children and three grandchildren of Firesteel, S. Dak.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rodgers, McKenzie; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Micir and Miss Maude Micir, Seattle, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Craven and three children, Ogden, Utah; J. N. Craven and son, Calvin Craven and wife, Leadville, Colo.; Mrs. Jennie Denton and Mrs. L. C. Wilton, of Des Moines, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Craven and nine children and five grand children, Menoken. William A. Craven of Dallas, S. D., was unable to attend and two of the eleven children, T. Clarkson Craven of McKenzie and Miss Ethel Craven of Des Moines, Ia., passed away after reaching maturity.

Feasting, automobile riding, picnics, music, picture taking, rehearsing of family history, recollections of childhood and recounting of more recent experiences have occupied prominent places during the weeks of visiting. The first break in the family celebration occurred Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Craven and children started on their return trip to Ogden. Other members of the family are gradually following their lead.

AT THE MOVIES

Lon Chaney plays one of the most, if not the most remarkable role of his spectacular career, in "A Blind Bargain," directed by Walter P. Reuther, who also directed Chaney in "The Penalty."

In this Goldwyn photo-drama, coming to the Capital theatre, for two days, commencing tomorrow Chaney plays two roles—one a polished suave physician, whose exterior hides a maniacal mind, and the other a hunchback. When Worsley, his director, read this story, he said: "There is only one man in pictures who can play these roles! That man is Lon Chaney!"

Also Larry Semon's newest comedy, "The Midnight Cabaret" which is one of the most lavish productions this comedian has produced for release through Vitaphone. It is richly dressed and is a real Broadway girl show transferred to the screen with the added attraction of Semon's ingenious comedy stunts. It promises to afford a laugh in every foot for the patrons of the Capital Theatre.

REPORT FIRST PILOT'S STRIKE

Refuses to Take Out British Airplane Unless Wages Are Raised

London, July 24.—The first air line pilots strike occurred at the Croydon airfield today, says the British News. "A British machine loaded with passengers had its engine running and was ready to start for France when the pilot informed the management he would refuse to fly unless his wages were increased. The company chief official was absent, the passengers became restless, no other pilot was available, so the authorities decided to accede to the demand."

MARTIN TABERT

By L. F. Green, Napoleon, N. D. Tabert thou hast not died in vain, Thy soul is marching on. From state to state rises the indignant flame, And Freedom's cause rolls on, and on and on.

The great the small alike have suffered. As their thousand battlefields attest, To break the shackles of some slavery, And human rights from cruel tyrants wrest.

Thus has it ever been, A Lincoln died four million chains fell off. A Paul laid down his head upon the block, At Nero's biddings, amidst the cynic's scoff.

Unnumbered are the heroes, who have started, The fires of conscience burning. In the souls of men and in a nations breast, For all mens hearts for justice, right, and truth are yearning.

Yes thou hast not died in vain, The leasing-system and whipping bosses have spoken their last word. And every where that Justice reigns, The story of Tabert will be heard.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
Harvesting of North Dakota's 1923 crop is of concern to every person interested in the welfare of the state, and it behooves every person to lend any aid to the farmers that he can. Depressed price of grain makes it imperative for the farmer that the crop be harvested at a minimum of expense.

A good start was made in the obtaining of a special rate for harvest laborers coming into the state, and it is hoped that the railroads' promise to Governor Nestos will be followed by speedy approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Free employment offices have been established at several points in the state by the federal government's employment bureau and the state employment service. Business men and other city residents may aid in this work by directing labor through these channels.

The setting of rates for harvest labor, believed to be fair by the farmers and others in some localities who have co-operated with them ought to prevent one locality bidding against another in times when the demand may exceed the available supply of labor. Governor Nestos, who urged co-operation among business men and farmers in the various counties in this regard, also urges the cooperation of business men in the conduct of the employment service.

The extent of the harvest cannot be known until the grain is threshed. Western North Dakota in most localities, however, can boast of a better grain crop than the Red River Valley, if reports of experts reflect the true condition of the grain. Corn never was better, and potatoes give promise of large yields. Flax also is in excellent condition, and there will be no lack of forage to carry livestock through next winter.

X-RAY
An X-ray current of 250,000 volts, most powerful ever used, was "shot" into the cancer of a woman patient at Bellevue Hospital, New York City. Three weeks later the cancer is reduced in size three-quarters of an inch.

As a result, Dr. Lewis Friedman, a Bellevue radiologist, is able to make this scientific prediction, the most important medical news so far in 1923: "All tissue contains electrical energy. The X-ray burns out that energy. We believe that it will take the place of radium in cancer cases. There is no doubt that some form of X-ray will eventually be discovered that will produce an absolute cure."

PENALTY
France has another disappointment—prospects are that she will have a low wheat crop this year. French interests are said to be buying enough wheat in the world market to take care of their country's needs for several months. The law of compensation never sleeps. Swords into ploughshares and spears into pruning hooks, France!

MOVIES
Eighteen thousand movie theaters in the United States, with an attendance of 50 million ticket-buyers a week, according to a trade estimate. Which means, the average person goes to the movies about once every two weeks. Edison was right when he said: "Whoever controls the motion picture industry controls the most powerful medium of influence over the people."

CENSORS
New York censors eliminated certain parts of the movie, "Good Riddance." The producers "went to law," and the court of appeals overrides the censors. The film will go into circulation in New York state about as it was before the censors cut it.

In this particular film, the censors' objection was that some of the episodes portrayed cruelty to animals, which might incite others to cruelty. It seems to be all right to portray cruelty to children in the pictures which is a puzzling contradiction.

PRICES
Retail prices in Germany, as the mark continues going to pieces, rise a third in one week. Cost of living there now is over 11,000 times higher than it was when the war started in 1914.

The mark apparently was purposely inflated to throw sand in the eyes of indemnity collectors. The Germans dug a pit for their neighbors and fell in it themselves. The boomerang usually returns to its source, especially when hurled by an expert, with power.

STATISTICS
Something new under the sun—a business doctor who condemns his own brand of medicine. Slason Thompson, railroad statistician, says superfluous statistics are adding 100 million dollars a year to our nation's transportation bill. Possibly an exaggeration, but in principle he is right. And it's true of all industries, semi-demented concerning statistics which few read and fewer understand. Since 1895, railroad clerks have increased 441 per cent, while passengers increased only 147 per cent and freight tonnage only 231 per cent. System is futile except when it eliminates work and cuts cost of production.

AUTOS
Four auto companies have produced more than a million cars apiece since they started business. Willys-Overland is the latest. Buick and Chevrolet passed the million mark early this year. Dodge soon will be the fifth to reach the mark.

Ford hit the million mark goal several years ago. He's getting along to 8,000,000 cars produced. These figures don't mean much unless you recall the old days when the "horseless carriage" struck most people as a fad, at best, an innovation limited in its power of growth. It's dangerous to condemn anything new—or predict its future.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Perhaps I'd better confess in the first place, dear old chap, that I am very much afraid—afraid of Leslie—afraid of myself—and most of all afraid of you.

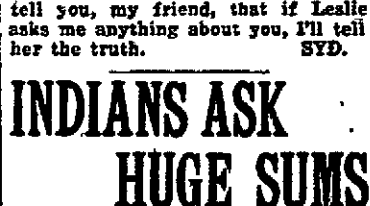

You are such a fool Jack. You never know when you are well off and all the while I feel that you are sitting over a volcano and that some day this married life of yours will go all queer. Did you ever stop to think that there is a divorce for every eight marriages? Don't add to your possibilities of being that unlucky number eight.

Of course I cannot understand how Leslie feels about you but knowing you as I do, I know I wouldn't live with you a minute. Will you tell me just why you want to break up the friendship between Ruth Ellington and Leslie?

I happen to have known Ruth very well before she was married and, as you say, she was the gayest and brightest girl in her set. I know that something very terrible must have happened in the first year of her marriage, for she has never been the same since.

I never did like Harry Ellington. He is the most selfish egotistical, arrogant man I have ever met, and that's going home.

What little I have seen of Ruth since her marriage has made me think she is a brave little thing who doesn't tell her troubles to every one, but I would like to tell Harry Ellington one thing. I believe that she should not know about you if she wants to be happy and that's what makes me afraid of her, for I

INDIANS ASK HUGE SUMS

Seek Millions in Return of Property

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 24.—Sioux Falls, the Pipestone, Minn., stone quarry and several additional "small claims," are lumped together under the title of Indian territory in a suit to be brought against the federal government by the Yankton Sioux Indians, according to Washosay, or Alfred C. Smith of Wagner, a representative of the tribe, who was in Sioux Falls Friday.

The suit involves several million dollars. It is declared to be the largest individual action of the kind that has ever been brought.

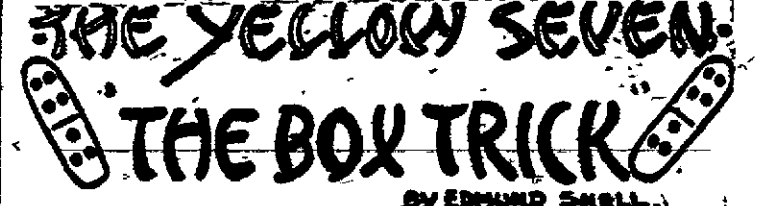

Washosay and several tribesmen were here to witness the signing of a contract with E. E. Wagner of Sioux City, former attorney of this city, who has been engaged as attorney for the tribe. The group was accompanied here by A. W. Leach, supervisor in charge of the Yankton Indian agency.

Attorney Wagner was formerly United States district attorney for South Dakota.

According to Washosay, there are two central claims involved and several minor claims, the earliest of which dates back to 1886.

First on the basis of having been the original dwellers in the Black Hills, the Yankton Sioux tribe was said by Washosay to be asking an indemnity for part ownership in that region.

Another large claim to indemnity is put forth on the basis of a treaty of 1852 in which the Yankton Sioux ceded this section of the state and also a large area in the north. Nothing has ever been received from these cessions, according to the present suit.

THE YELLOW SEVEN

THE BOX TRICK

BY EDMUND SMELL

Pennington took the envelope. "I like it that the crime was enacted within reasonable distance of your house, Mr. Chai-Hung."

"Unpleasantly so."

"And this—this was discovered by one of your men?"

"It was found—by me."

Pennington screwed up his eyes. "That's interesting," he said softly. "I wonder if you could manage to post on his announced death."

"Chai-Hung shook his head slowly. 'I'm afraid that would be utterly impossible.'"

"Going away?" inquired Pennington casually.

The corners of the Chinaman's mouth twitched.

"I may possibly be absent from my residence—for an indefinite period," he said again. "I shall be obliged if you will inform His Excellency the Commissioner that one of my secretaries will attend to any correspondence he may think necessary."

He turned abruptly and made his way toward the dusty road—a hundred yards below.

"Well!" demanded Monica eagerly, "what was the celestial and his hunch-backed satellite were out of ear-shot."

Pennington leaned back against the wooden rail.

"It's perfectly amazing," he admitted. "I'm dashed sorry for poor Allison, of course, but it's the main issue that interests me at this moment. Look at the staff-work! He deliberately organizes a tragedy almost as soon as he gets to the Commissioner. Then he presents us with one of these delightful little symbols, for all the world as if he'd never seen one in all his life before! 'Ye Gods!'"

He slid a finger under the flap of the envelope and tore it open. Monica saw him draw out a card. He held the thing with his black back before her, then he turned his fingers so that she could observe the bright yellow surface of its other side and the seven black dots with which it was ornamented.

"The Yellow Seven!" she whispered.

Pennington left the rail and began pacing the veranda.

"His agents are everywhere," he ventured presently. "Even his visit to the Commissioner was carefully calculated so that he should run no risk of encountering your brother on his way. He knew that Hewitt was lunching with the governor at Sandakan. He is undoubtedly equally aware that the Commissioner is returning with the warrant for the arrest of our friend, Chai-Hung!"

"Then that is why—"

"That is why he is going away for an indefinite period."

Monica's forehead wrinkled.

"Oughtn't you to do something?" Pennington smiled grimly.

"Chai-Hung is being watched—night and day."

Monica uttered a deep sigh of contentment.

"I don't see that there's much to bother about, then. You're bound to get him."

"You'd think so, wouldn't you? I used to think so once. But that was when I allowed myself to be carried away by youthful enthusiasm. There's something about Chai-Hung that baffles one at every turn. He's a past-master of cunning, an enthusiastic student of every diabolical crime in existence, but beyond all that, he's gifted with an intuition—a sort of second-sight, that borders on the supernatural."

Captain John Hewitt swung into view a bare half-hour after the fall of darkness, and found his sister waiting for him on the threshold.

"Have you got it?" she whispered. The Commissioner looked down at her and smiled reprovingly.

"Got what?"

She reached up on tip-toe and whispered something in his ear.

"You've been hearing more state secrets than are good for you," he laughed. "Why do you ask?"

She stood looking out into the tropic darkness.

DON'T BLAME THE CHILD

Don't scold your children for lack of control over the kidney secretions. It is not always the children's fault—in many cases it means weak kidneys and can be readily righted. Read this Bismarck father's advice.

Wm. O. Baer, carpenter, 221 S. 6th St., says: "My little girl was troubled with kidney weakness and she had no control over the kidney secretions. She was nervous and peevish and was often restless at night. The complaint came on after she had recovered from infantile paralysis and it seemed to leave her kidneys weak and disordered. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being so good for kidney trouble and thought it well to try them on the child. After taking them she got over the trouble and her health picked up at once and she is now strong and healthy."

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

The Twins and Master Sky Bow hurried to the place the sounds of crying had come from.

And it only took them a second to discover who was doing it. It was the Little Pezzer.

Where a moment or two before they had all been so sunny and so happy, now every last one of them was crying his head off nearly.

But they were so tiny it took about a bushel of them to cry loud enough to be heard at all and about two bushels of them to make a real noise.

"What can be the matter?" asked Nancy anxiously, dropping on her knees and speaking as softly as she knew how. "Is it that bad old Cross Patch? Has he been here frightening you?"

"Oh, yes, pined out a tiny Little Pezzer. That's just what's the matter. Before he came along we were as happy as flies in a honey-pot, but after he waved his magic stick, we suddenly discovered that we hate to be little. It's awful to be little, so it is! We can't run fast, and we can't eat a lot, and we can't hear much, and we're just nothing at all!"

"But just think!" Nick reminded him. "All the other Little Pezzers stopped crying and listened hard. It's fine to be little in lots of ways. When you're sick there's such a little bit of you to suffer! And when you fall down there's such a little bit of you to get hurt! And when you have to take a bath there's such a little bit of you to wash with soap! And when—"

"Oh, stop, stop!" cried all the Little Pezzers. "We're happy again. And if old Cross Patch comes back we'll tell him to get out! Thank you, Twins, we're not afraid of anything now."

LEONARD WINS EASILY OVER LEW TENDLER

Lightweight Champion Retains Crown in One of Ring's Greatest Battles

65,000 SEE BATTLE

New York, July 24.—It was announced definitely today that the crowd which saw the Leonard-Tendler fight numbered 65,000 and gate receipts were $500,000.

New York, July 24.—Benny Leonard, king of the lightweights for the past six years, demonstrated conclusively last night his undisputed title to the throne by trouncing Lew Tendler, his Philadelphia challenger, in a slashing, bitterly fought 15-round match at the Yankee Stadium.

Before a crowd of more than 65,000 that paid a half million dollars to see the match, setting a new high mark for championships outside the heavy weight class, Leonard outgeneraled, outboxed and outpunched his foremost rival from start to finish. He held the upper hand, had Tendler on the verge of a knockout at the close and the judges' verdict in his favor at the finish was merely a formality.

Leonard Was Masterful. Spectacular as was the fight, it lacked the thrill, the suspense and evenness of their memorable battle a year ago at Boyle's Thirty Acres where Leonard, hanging on at one stage, was barely able to gain a margin of victory.

Leonard fought with consummate skill. A master of ring tactics, he had his rugged southpaw challenger baffled by the speed and precision of his attack, while at the same time he made futile most of Tendler's attempts on the offensive. The champion landed three blows to one in nearly every round.

Tendler Was Wild. Tendler, on the other hand seemed slow, lethargic by comparison to the title holder. Blocked in his favorite method of attack for which Leonard apparently had perfected a remarkable defense, the challenger was left with no effective weapon. He was wild repeatedly and though he stood up gamely under a terrific battering in several rounds, he seemed in much poorer form than when he began Leonard a slashing struggle a year ago.

Leonard evidently had learned the lesson of his past fight with Tendler. Instead of permitting his rival to get the jump, the title-holder took the aggressive in the second round and quickly piled up a decisive margin of points. He jumped in and around the challenger, knocked, ducked and sparring while he shot jolting uppercuts and hooks to the head and body. Tendler, trying gamely to stem the tide, tried rushing, but the champion beat him at his own game.

Lew's Left Ineffective. For twelve rounds the champion held the upper hand with ease, then in the thirteenth he cut loose with a savage drive that soon had Tendler in distress. Sensing the real thrill of the fight, the crowd jumped to its feet, as Leonard, swinging rights and lefts to the head, with terrific force, drove Tendler about the ring. Once, from a right to the jaw, Tendler slipped to his knees and it seemed he would take a count, but he jumped back to his feet, only to be met by another withering attack.

Vainly the challenger tried to stab with his left, but Leonard was too quick and the round closed with the challenger in full retreat. Two hard shots to the jaw had Tendler again in distress in the 14th round. He weathered this storm only to face another smashing attack in the final round. Leonard, trying hard for a knockout, had his opponent reeling and bloody with smashing hooks and uppercuts to the head, but they lacked the power to bring down Tendler, who fought back gamely, but ineffectively, to the close.

Leonard Unmarked. A majority of ringside experts gave Leonard every round except the first which went to Tendler by a small margin. Some gave the challenger an even break in the seventh but the fact remained that at no time did he appear to have a chance. Leonard bore few marks of battle when he left the ring, to be lifted to the shoulders of a throng of admirers, while Tendler had cuts under his left eye and on his nose and mouth.

"Tendler is the greatest southpaw and one of the great lightweights I have ever seen," said the champion. He put up a stiff battle and even in the final rounds, when I got him the hardest, I wasn't able to put him down, although I tried hard.

"Leonard is Good"—Lew. "Leonard is a great champion," declared Tendler in paying tribute to his conqueror. "I did the best I could but it wasn't good enough. Benny is a master ring general."

Billy Gibson, title-holder's manager, declared the fight would go down in history as one of the greatest of lightweight battles.

BISMARCK AND VALLEY CITY TO MEET HERE

Will Clash on Local Diamond in a Series of Twilight Baseball Games

Baseball today at 6:15. Bismarck meets Valley City on the local diamond for a series of twilight games.

The teams played a rattling good series at Valley City, in which Bismarck won four games, lost one and tied one, and a fast series is expected in Bismarck.

Zimmerman, new infielder, will be seen by local fans for the first time. A change schedule "balled things up" and previous advertising of today's game was conspicuous by its absence. Minot takes on Jamestown again while Bismarck is wrestling with Valley City.

Joe Day probably will pitch the opener for Bismarck.

PROGRESS IS SHOWN IN CUT OF TRAIN TIME

Northern Pacific and Other Roads to Inaugurate Cuts in Train Time

By A. B. Smith
Passenger Traffic Manager
Northern Pacific Railway

The fabric of understanding and friendly contact among states of the Northwest will be closer knitted on July 29 when four railroad systems—the Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Great Northern and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul—inaugurate faster running schedules for transcontinental trains.

Thirty years ago eastern and central states' people thought of Seattle, Tacoma and Portland and the entire North Pacific Coast country as somewhere well outside their lives, their fortunes, their business, their interest. It was a long, hard journey of 90 hours or so from Chicago to Seattle by the best of passenger trains. Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota and other Northwestern states were well removed from each other by transportation limitations and by time.

July 29, 1923 is a day when transportation history will be made. On that day the once formidable 90 hours of passenger time separating North Pacific Coast ports from Chicago will have been cut to 70 hours. From that day on, faster train service will bring closer association among states in the Northwest and among their people.

There are many reasons for closer association between Northwestern states and other states of this union, among them being the fact that eastern and central United States depend largely upon the Northwest today for raw materials and supplies of many kinds—lumber, live stock, copper, silver, gold, zinc, fruit, agricultural products, fish, poultry, etc. And, in return, the Northwest is requiring ever increasing quantities of manufactured goods. Faster train time will contribute to increase of commercial exchanges and will make contacts easier, quicker, more frequent.

The first through passenger service from Chicago to North Coast cities was in 1891. Northern Pacific trains were proud to handle this pioneer travel in 85 to 90 hours. When a schedule of 72 hours was finally reached it was felt that the demands of modern time were fully met. But this fast operation now will become even faster, made possible by advancing transportation facilities—equipment and road bed and the operating leadership to take advantage of these factors.

And the faster transcontinental schedule will be safe! The Northern Pacific Railway, for example, is completing this year the protection of all of its main line between St. Paul and Minneapolis and Seattle through the installation of electric automatic block signals. Two short stretches of track only are excepted in this installation, the short mileage between Little Falls, Minnesota and Staples, Minnesota and another stretch between Tacoma, Washington and Tenino, Washington. Altogether the Northern Pacific has more than 2600 miles of right-of-way safeguarded by automatic block signals. The cost has been more than five million dollars. The steel trains have made travel much safer heretofore and it is interesting to note that in the last seven years the Northern Pacific has carried sixty million people safely without a single fatal accident among its passengers.

The new schedule of the North Coast Limited between eastern and western terminals beginning July 29, provides for a departure from Chicago, westbound, at 10:35 A. M. and from St. Paul at 10:55 P. M. and from Minneapolis at 11:25 P. M. On the eastbound schedule the North Coast Limited will leave Portland, Tacoma and Seattle at the same hour—9:30 A. M. and Spokane at 10:30 P. M. The schedule in both directions will be 70 hours of running time.

Warm Contest At Legion Meet

Wahpeton, N. D., July 24.—A warm contest for the 1924 meeting place of the North Dakota department of the American Legion is likely to develop at the annual state convention here Aug. 15-17, according to advices reaching here.

Mandan is strongly organized, it is said, but is likely to meet a strong contender in New Rockford, a candidate last year, which advises state will send a strong delegation with the determination of landing the convention if possible.

Keen rivalry for the office of state commander seems certain. Already the names of Walter Curtis of Libon, Major Welch of Mandan, Sprague of Grafton and Vice commander Campbell of Bottineau are being mentioned.

It is indicated that a lively contest may develop over the office of state adjutant.

GIANTS WIN, REDS LOSE, IN PENNANT RACE

St. Louis Downs Cincinnati Team, While Giants Beat the Lowly Phillies

Chicago, July 24.—Only four games were played in the big leagues yesterday but the working teams made up in runs for their resting rivals.

The Cubs, playing in Pittsburgh, worked hard for 11 1-2 innings when the scores were still 3 to 3, and then got down to real business and rolled up nine runs as fast as they could get around the bases, winning 12 to 3.

In Cincinnati the Reds were trimmed by St. Louis, in a hard hitting battle, slipping a rung in their chase up the percentage ladder after the league leading Giants, who defeated the lowly Phillies 8 to 4.

The Cleveland Indians insisted on hitting the ball continually in St. Louis and won the game 9 to 2. In the fourth Williams leaned on his 18th round tripper of the season with Tobin on base.

The Detroit game with Chicago was postponed because of rain.

KRAUSE AND MOUG MATCHED

Will Battle 10 Rounds in Mandan on August 23

Battling Krause of Bismarck, and Joe Moug of Medina, welterweights, will box 10 rounds in Mandan on Thursday, August 23, according to Matchmaker Jack Hurley of Fargo. Good preliminaries will be provided. Krause is now in Fargo and has placed himself under Hurley's management, the latter announces, and is receiving instruction daily. Krause will box Eddie Willy at Valley City August 10 and is expected to box Johnny Knauf in Wahpeton, August 15.

Krause is now down to 137 pounds and can easily make 135 pounds and enter the lightweight division, Hurley says. Krause and Moug will weigh in at 145 pounds before the Mandan fight, however.

A Worth-while Reputation

The head of one of this country's great manufacturing institutions says:

"The man who builds and the man who buys are both beneficiaries of reputation. To the one it is a continuous spur and incentive—to the other, the strongest of all guarantees that what he buys is worthy."

Patronize the manufacturer or merchant who has a reputation for honesty and fair dealing. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his customers. He must retain the good-will of the buying public. Without this, his business cannot succeed.

Every time he advertises he puts his reputation in your hands. His products or the wares he has for sale must make good. His service must be as advertised.

That is why it pays to read advertisements, to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised goods.

Yes, it is worth your while to read the advertisements

For a Cool Week-end D'jever Try the Movies!

They're Doing It in New York Where Joseph Plunkett Has World's Most Unique Summer Resort

New York City.—An original plan to give a touch of the cool country to those who must stay in the city over hot week-ends is bringing big results and making a rich man of its originator, Joseph Plunkett, director of the Mark Strand Theatre here.

Mr. Plunkett has turned his theatre into what is, in effect, a country meadow. Artificial breezes cool the dim recesses of the big auditorium. The smell of fir trees which stand in the lobby fill the air, while overhead ice water runs through hidden pipes with a tinkling sound that suggests an April shower.

Amelia E. Teachout and Harold Teachout, petitioners, vs. Jessie Orr, Ruby Young, Hattie Teachout Mary Fischer and Irene Teachout, Mary Fischer, A. Teachout, Alice June Teach-

From the orchestra pit comes the realistic singing of birds and the humming of bees. The curtain rises on the kind of woody scene that the audience has been dreaming about all the hot, mid day.

Boys and girls in cool whites and greens form part of the picture, which is, however, merely a background for the most exciting feature of all, the singing, airy melody of the summer's favorite fox trot songs, "Swingin' Down the Lane" and "Saw Mill River Road."

And while the summer boys and girls sing, the tired audience visions shady lanes and eventide on river roads.

Mr. Plunkett says that during the summer more than half a million persons will see their country week-ends at the Mark Strand Theatre, without the dust, grime and crows of train trips.

NO PROFIT IN FIRST YEAR AT STATE'S MILL

Running Strong and Employing 140 Men, According to Manager C. S. Austin

SELL IN NORTHWEST

Grand Forks, July 24.—Encouraging progress is being made toward successful and profitable operation by the North Dakota State mill at Grand Forks, which is now working day and night with an output of 3,500 barrels of flour a day, according to C. S. Austin, general manager. A crew of 140 including 30 persons in the office force, and 34 salesmen are now employed by the mill.

Three units have been placed in operation since the mill opened on October 30, 1922, says Mr. Austin. Two of the units which are handling spring wheat have been operating full time since April 1 with an output of a little more than 1000 barrels a day each. The durum unit with an output of 1000 barrels is turning out flour which is used as semolina by manufacturers of macaroni and other durum products.

Experienced Manager
"A big project like the state mill is bound to operate at a loss for a time," Mr. Austin points out, "and the people of North Dakota must wait with a little patience until the mill can be placed on a paying basis. Only luck can make a tremendous undertaking like the state owned mill pay the first year."

Mr. Austin is an experienced miller who received his early training in Minnesota and at the University of Minnesota. In 1907 he went to Moosejaw, Canada, to operate a branch mill, and from there to Medicine Hat with the Maple Leaf Milling company.

"We are in the center of the best wheat area in the United States, and our aim is to put out the best kind of flour," Mr. Austin says. "We cannot get poor stuff to mix with the good wheat in our state. Our problem is to sell our product in markets that pay a better price than does the export market, or the market which will always buy wheat at a price like New York, Philadelphia, and Chicago."

Selling Thru Regular Trade
"Our present market and the one which we are cultivating is the market in North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Minnesota, Iowa, and Wisconsin where the housewife uses a hard spring wheat flour. In the east and south the soft wheats of Kansas or home grown grain flour is used almost entirely. Later we propose to sell the baker trade in Illinois, New York, Ohio, and other states where bakers need a better wheat flour such as we can furnish to mix with their flour in order to make it a good baking flour."
"North Dakota wheat has taken very well in all parts of the country and also in England and Scotland. Four grades of the spring wheat product are now on the market. The best grade, "Dakota Maid," is the one which is our main product, and which is being marketed to consumers through the dealer trade. The next grade, Dakota Pride, is a bakers flour, and the third and fourth grades, Dakota Warrior and Dakota Wigwag, are flour for blending which are being sold to the export trade."

Only One In Country
The mill, the only state owned one in the country of the same character is being conducted as a regular commercial institution, according to the officials. It is being run on an absolutely business basis, with the object of making a profit like any other mill. The wheat is purchased from farmers, independent and line elevators.

LEGION PALACE OF CALIFORNIA TO BE OPENED

San Francisco, July 24.—The California Palace of the Legion of Honor, now being constructed at a cost of $1,000,000 on the crest of Lincoln Park overlooking the Golden Gate, will be formally dedicated in memory of the 3,369 California boys who made the supreme sacrifice on the battlefields of France in the World War during the national convention of the American Legion here October 15-19, according to an announcement by Edolph Spreckels, honor of the memorial.

Exhibition of the works of art donated by the French, Roumanian, Serbian, and Polish governments, and various individuals, which will form a part of the permanent collection to be housed in the memorial building here are being exhibited in the historic Legion of Honor building on the banks of the Seine, Paris June 5-July 5, before their removal to San Francisco. The California Palace of the Legion of Honor is a duplicate of the Fair building, and official permission for its duplication was given by the French government. Henri Guillaume, French government architect at the Panama Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco in 1915, is the architect.

The memorial, donated under the patronage of President Harding, President Millerand of France, and other leading French and American citizens, is being given to the citizens of California, together with all its treasures, by Mr. and Mrs. Spreckels.

THE HOT WEATHER CAUSED THIS

The photographer sauntered up to the roof of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. He happened to have his camera with him and the shutter accidentally clicked. He had no idea that he had such a picture as this until he developed the plate. Left to right you see Marion Wilkins, Mlle. Ithea and Opal Hickson, dancers who had fled from the studio to the roof because of the hot weather.

BIG PROFITS IN BOOZE GO TO SYNDICATE

Sell to Prices Permitting the Runners Comparatively Small Profits

Detroit, July 24.—Certain powerful interests control the available supply of beer and liquor on the Canadian side and the big money is made there, according to the rum runners who operate the tiny boats which chug across the river here with their cargoes of illicit beverages.

According to these operators, this "syndicate" or "system" as it is termed, sell at prices which permit the runners and American bootleggers a comparatively small margin of profit.

Thus, say these runners, the huge profits in the rum running business across the Detroit river are a thing of the past. Large profits, they maintain, still are being taken in the liquor smuggling traffic, but the business has progressed and been systematized until only those who control the traffic and crack the whip over the rum running fleets reap the golden harvest.

The free and easy way of the days shortly after prohibition became effective, say the runners, are gone. System has come in, until now it is impossible for a free lance runner to obtain supplies on the Canadian side unless he buys them from what amounts, virtually, to a closed syndicate, according to these operators.

The runners cite instances. They say that Canadian beer, when bought from the Canadian operators, often costs close to $5 a case, although its actual brewery price is much lower. The runner gets 50 cents a case for transporting it across the river and it is laid down in River Rouge, Wyandotte or Ecorse or some other place, for $5.50. If it is delivered to the retailer he can truck it to his place of business and sell it for 50 cents a bottle and make a comfortable profit. But, the runners say, it often goes through the hands of an American middleman and reaches the retailer at a cost of about 33 cents a bottle. He has to keep up his overhead expense and run his risk and still sell it at 50 cents a bottle.

The same situation obtains in whiskey smuggling, the runners say. They declare it is virtually impossible to get whiskey to smuggle on their own account. When they run it across for the controlling interests they receive $2.75 a case.

Despite these protests, however, it appears probable that some of them, by hard work, make a comfortable living. One youth claimed he averages 40 cases of beer to a trip and makes from three to four trips a day with a motor boat. At this rate he would make $20 a trip and from $50 to $80 a day. Other craft are said to carry larger cargoes.

DOING HIS BEST

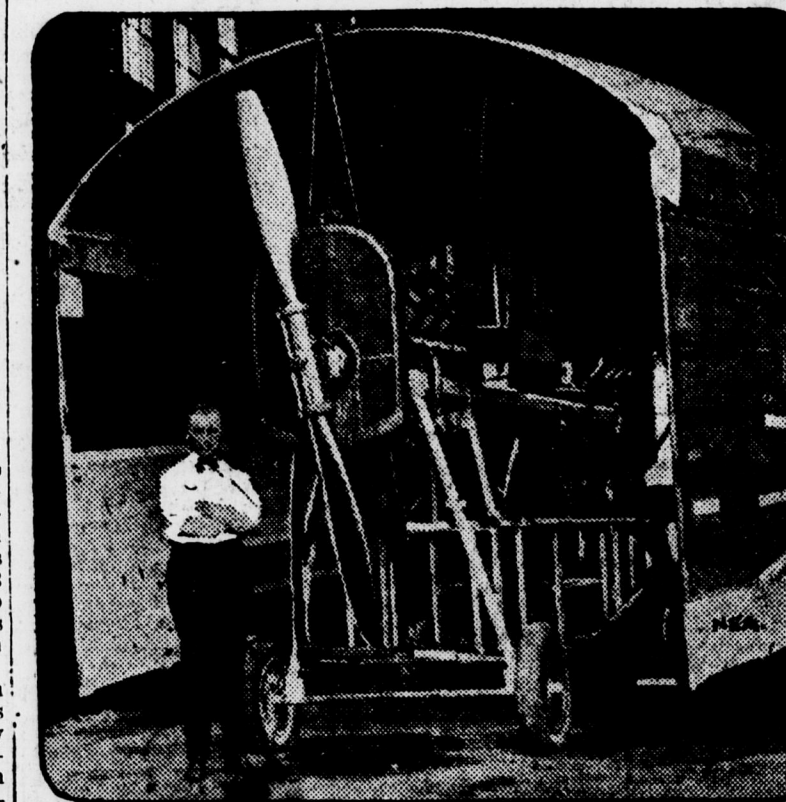

Writers have said that Luis Firpo, conqueror of Jess Willard, never smiles. The photographer sought to disprove that. Even though Firpo is assured a chance at Dempsey's title this is the best he could do in the way of a smile.

SO THIS IS MEXICO!

It doesn't seem to be such a bad job after all, this task of arranging for recognition of Mexico. Charles B. Warren (left), one of the American delegates, and Ramon Ross of the Mexican commission are shown buying candy at a recent charity fair in the Tivoli del Eliseo at Mexico City.

UNIVERSITY MAY BECOME RICH BY OIL

Austin, Tex., July 24.—Students and officials of the University of Texas who for several years have dreamed of extensive improvements for the school may have their dream fulfilled by the magic of oil. A $600,000 improvement program has been outlined for some time. The board of regents had taken steps to obtain loans for the improvements, but it was not until a few weeks ago that hope developed for other sources of revenue.

It is admitted by university officials that should a producing oil field be opened on the school's lands in West Texas it probably would be one of the richest schools in the nation. Reports of a gusher in Reagan county were made recently, but it remains for the field to be proven.

University officials are reluctant to express themselves regarding the probable income of the school from the field. On returning from an inspection of the Santa Rita well which has caused much discussion, Dr. J. A. Udden, head of the university geology department, declared that prospects are favorable for a producer, although he would not hazard a guess as to the value of the field. All permits on the university block have been taken up as a result of the Santa Rita prospects.

POINCARÉ GETS CABINET O. K. ON HIS REPLY

Believed to Oppose British Note on Reparations in Important Matters

Paris, July 24.—The French cabinet today unanimously approved Premier Poincaré's attitude toward the British project for a reply to Germany's reparations note which the premier set forth to his colleagues today.

This was the only definite information obtainable after the meeting. France and Belgium, it appears, already have practically agreed as to their position and the fact that the cabinet meeting which was to have been Thursday was advanced two days to hear M. Poincaré's report was taken in political circles as indicating that the premier's reply was ready and that it was negative on some important points in the British proposals.

DRY AGENT IS ON TRIAL

Charged in South Dakota with Giving Away Liquor

Sioux Falls, July 24.—The Knight-Huyck hearing will be held this afternoon in municipal court, it was announced last night. W. O. Knight, federal prohibition director for South Dakota, and his assistant, W. C. Huyck, are charged by John Neary "with giving away liquor." Allegations are that Mr. Knight and Mr. Huyck after a joy ride with two women last May gave these women liquor. Their house was raided that evening, it was said, and one of the women arrested on a charge of having liquor in her possession. She paid a fine of $50 on this charge but complainants allege that federal officers furnished the liquor.

BANDITS RAID BANK TRUCK

Toronto, July 2.—Six bandits jumped from a large automobile today, attacked messengers of the Standard, Sterling and Commerce bank returning from the clearing house with numerous bags of money and escaped with what is believed to be a large sum, after wounding two Sterling bank employees in a sensational pistol battle.

KISSING CLOUDS NO THRILL AT ALL

MRS. BERTHA DALE HORCHEM

By NEA Service

Ransom, Kan. July 21.—Soaring more than three miles above the earth is not so much of a thrill! That's what Mrs. Bertha Dale Horchem of this city, who holds the altitude record for women fliers, says. She recently attained the height of 16,400 feet at St. Louis in a Curtiss plane with a Hispano-Suiza eight-cylinder, 180 horsepower motor.

"It wasn't nearly so exciting as was my first flight a year ago," she takes more pride in the fact that she learned to pilot a plane in a week, than in her altitude record.

How does it feel to "go up in the air three miles?"

"Going up the first 8000 feet there was trouble," she says. "The other 8,400 feet took an hour and a half."

"Although the thermometer registered 90 degrees on the ground, it was intensely cold when we reached 14,000 feet."

"We wore fur-lined coats with woolen and leather helmets and heavy gloves. Yet, when I look out from behind the windshield it felt as if my face was being cut with sleet. My fingers became numb with cold."

"Coming down, I took my time for I knew it wouldn't do to change back to normal temperature too quickly."

The previous altitude record for women was 15,000 feet—made by Mlle. Andree Peyre of France at Los Angeles.

Women have not as yet approached the men's record, held by Lieutenant John C. Macready at 40,800.

A Red Light Means Danger

The tall light on your automobile is a red light. A red light means danger. When you drive out of Bismarck to trade somewhere else, the rest of us in Bismarck see the red light on your car and know that it means danger for our town.

Towns are known by the business houses they maintain. Good business houses are maintained by the people of their towns. If all of us do our trading somewhere else—we will lose our business houses and ruin our town.

This town is YOUR town. Help it to grow instead of someone's else town. Buy in Bismarck. Bank in Bismarck. Let us always see your headlights coming into Bismarck instead of your danger signals as you head away from the town you should support.
